Once again, an overseas network has brought us a brand new glimpse at upcoming episodes of Transformers Animated, this time featuring the debut of Detroit's least imposing super-villains, the Society of Ultimate Villainy! Magmatron of the 2005 Boards and Type-Q of the Allspark bring us the skinny here and here. Who's that mystery bot silhouetted on the side of this article? Check it out by clicking on through. This episode will be airing in the US sometime in June, and in Canada likely a week before.
