A few more images from the Udzar-Hazy National Air & Space Museum shoot for the astf sequel have been posted on the Transformers Live Action Movie Blog. More of the same; old planes on display, visitors crowding around the more famous planes. But these also so Megan Fox on set...and an interesting possible-Transformer. Not much else can be said without revealing spoilers, so let's just say fans keeping up with the the latest rumors should find this little one interesting too!
