

Shia Talks Hand and More Surgery

Contributed by lonegamer8
Monday, 15 September 2008

Since his car accident crash at the corner of La Brea and Fountain in Hollywood back at the end of July, Shia LaBeouf finally talks, with Billy Bush of Access Hollywood. According to the young actor, his hand is still in the splint until filming for Revenge is done, to which there will be further surgery. On director Michael Bay and production:

"[Bay] plows through. I think we had a day down, two days down, and then we got back to some second unit stuff that we had to get anyways, and I was back two or three weeks before anybody projected me coming back."

Click here to read the original article at Access Hollywood.