An anonymous source at TF Live Action Movie Blog has dropped by with a set report from Holloman Air Force Base. What about? Military cast (real and actors) working through their roles, including Tyrese Gibson doing a little non-movie performance because of multiple takes. Several familiar old faces in their vehicular forms were spotted, alongside the Humvees and other military vehicles. Shooting at White Sands Missile Range will take a week, to which filming is apparently to finish up late September/early October between both places. Nothing entirely spoilery, but read with caution.
