

Shia Won't Be Charged With DUI, Maybe Suspended License

Contributed by lonegamer8
Thursday, 25 September 2008

While Shia LaBeouf won't be prosecuted with DUI charges for his July 27 car crash in Hollywood due to insufficient evidence, his license may be suspended six to nine months for refusing a breathalyser test as per California driving laws. For that, he may be headed to a DMV hearing but that isn't a court hearing nor is it opened to the public.

Read the rest at Yahoo! News here, MTV's article, and here at People Magazine.