Have you gotten Voyager Animated Optimus Prime, and felt his ax was less than stellar? Well, it looks like a garage kit maker has just the set for you! Nato's Bot Shop is currently selling an Animated Prime ax set that has two different blades (one open with an energy blade, and one closed), two different length handles, and a flame for the thruster on the back of the ax! The sets are starting at $20, and are limited to 20...for now. These are what you may call prototypes, and are being sold to build up enough money for a full production run of around 2000!
