Dr. Onishi gave the word, so let's blow the lid off this mystery.

BATTLE PROTOCOL, one of the Allspark's crowning achievements, is BACK after a six year hiatus. The Robots In Disguise-themed profile project, completed in 2003 just in time for OTFCC, has gotten a complete facelift, and has returned to the Allspark in the form of BATTLE PROTOCOL: O-PARTS EDITION. We've got the first in a series of supplemental installments ready for viewing here, and an ongoing discussion of our brief viral campaign here.

We'd like to thank the thirty-one members of the Allspark's lacon and Chronicles communities who contributed to this project so long ago: your efforts are back in the spotlight again! An especially big thank you goes out to Jake "InkerGuy" Isenberg, whose crazy idea this was in the first place, and without whose dedication, coordination and ambition this project wouldn't have seen the light of day.

Now, go find those O-Parts!
