Did you guys hear that there was going to be a second Transformers movie? And that it was opening tonight? (Well, for countries outside of Japan and the UK)

All joking aside, for those fans rushing out this evening to catch the midnight showing of astf, the Allspark.com just wants to wish you all a great time! And to those that really didn't know about the movie, we just wanted to say "shame on you!"

Check your local theaters for show times, and don't forget to post your thoughts in our on-going discussion thread here! (There are spoilers inside, so a warning for those that haven't seen the movie)
