Arriving at Footlocker stores in the next couple of weeks is a series of Nike sneakers inspired by popular Transformers Generation One characters. These sneakers feature packaging that are an homage to the original Transformers packaging. Three sneakers are announced so far, with Bumblebee and Soundwave shown at Sneaker News.com. The third set looks to be inspired by Megatron, based on concept photos.

You can discuss the news on our forums.

Update There are now images of the Megatron shoes. Classics fans will be pleased to see the colors used. Henkei fans, not so much. You can see the shoes here. Thanks to Solarstorm for the link!
