Electric Playground were onsite at BotCon 2009 and as part of their "More Than Meets The Eye" week coverage prior to astf's US release date, they showed off two interviews. First one is a quick interview with the ever loveable Peter Cullen, covering the differences of voice acting when he did the original cartoon as compared to voicing for the video games. Second video is with Stan Bush, how "The Touch" had a different movie in mind and how he didn't expect the song to have such staying power post 1986's Transformers: The Movie.
