

Two New Unknown Test Shots - Possible Universe 2010 Figures?

Contributed by Powered Convoy
Saturday, 31 October 2009

KO Toys has uploaded two new images to their website. The images are of some previously unannounced figures - one a sports car with a large air wing, the other is an automobile - perhaps Cybertronian? Many people speculate that the sports car is the planned Drift figure, from IDW's comics, first announced at Botcon 2009 for the third iteration of Transformers Classics.

You can see the images for yourself by clicking here, and speculate who they are on our forums. Thanks to The Walky for the news.